

PULSAR

THE RADIANT HEART OF CONTEMPORARY ART

After the success of Anthology, the collection that enclosed a decade of talent, vision, and creativity, M.A.D.S. Art Gallery continues its cosmic journey with a new edition: PULSAR. A project born as the evolution of Anthology, meant to continue telling — year after year — the stories of the brightest voices in contemporary art. If Anthology celebrated the first decade of light, PULSAR represents its expansion: the propagation of that same energy, the continuous heartbeat of a universe in motion. Within the vast cosmos of M.A.D.S. Art Gallery, every artist is a star. But there are stars that shine with a unique frequency: the Pulsars, rare, precise, and constant celestial bodies, capable of emitting luminous waves that travel across light-years, preserving their strength, their identity, their voice. They are extremely rare: our galaxy holds hundreds of billions of stars, yet only a few thousand known Pulsars exist. They are practically indestructible: they endure for billions of years, continuing to pulse with perfect regularity. They are so precise and constant that, in the future, they could even guide space travelers — like a cosmic GPS. A Pulsar is a gem of the universe, sculpted by the collapse and rebirth of a star, continuously sending its luminous heartbeat into the cosmos. So are the artists of this new edition — creative souls whose light does not fade but keeps pulsing, recognizable, unmistakable, continuous. Their works are signals crossing space and time, reaching new orbits, new eyes, new worlds. M.A.D.S. is the universe that welcomes and connects them — an ecosystem where every creative impulse becomes part of a living, expanding constellation, where each light joins the others without ever losing its individuality. In this global sky, every artist shines for what they truly are: unrepeatable, magnetic, authentic. PULSAR is not just a new edition, but a signal of continuity. It confirms that the light of art never ends: it changes shape, rhythm, and frequency, yet keeps radiating energy. PULSAR is the voice that resonates after Anthology — its constant heartbeat, its cosmic breath. PULSAR – Stars do not fade. They become eternal. You are not just a star. You are a Pulsar — the light that keeps shining, guiding, and leaving a mark through time. Join us in this new constellation of art and immortality.
